DRAFT FOR MANAGER REVIEW

PRODUCTION BONUS · ANONYMOUS SURVEY

The questions we'd ask.

The survey we propose sending to everyone with the production bonus proposal. It branches: each person answers questions about their own main job, and a few short follow-ups appear only when someone answers "rarely" or negatively, so we learn why. Please read it as a staff member would and tell us what to change, add or cut.

Anonymous: no name or email collected | About 8 to 10 minutes | Open for one week | Each person sees only their stage's questions

What staff see first: We're thinking about adding a production bonus on top of your hourly wage, and we want your honest take before anything is decided, including criticism. This survey is anonymous: it does not collect your name or email, and only overall results are shared. It takes about 8 to 10 minutes. Please read the proposal first (it's attached to the email with this survey).

Not at all (1) (2) (3) (4) (5) Very

23 If you work in more than one stage, your team bonus would follow your mix of work (for example 60% imaging, 40% intake). Does that seem fair?

○ Yes ○ No ○ Not sure ○ Doesn't apply to me

24 How often would you like to see your progress?

○ Live in the Hub during the day ○ Once a day ○ Once a week ○ Only on payday

○ Fair ○ Too little for us ○ Not sure

→ Too little: follow-up "What share would feel fair to you, and why?" (required).

Tracking time (page intro staff see): To pay a bonus fairly, we need accurate production hours. That means clocking in and out, and a quick way to mark time spent on other work (truck runs, wrapping glass, meetings) so it never counts against your pace. Breaks are handled automatically. We want this to be as painless as possible.

26 Where would clocking in and out be easiest for you?

○ In the Hub, with my production work ○ In Gusto, like now ○ No preference

27 How would a one-tap timer in the Hub for other work feel? Required

○ Easy, no problem ○ A little annoying ○ Very annoying ○ Not sure

→ A little or Very annoying: follow-up "We do need some way to track time spent on other work. What would make it less annoying, or how else could we track that time fairly?" (required).

29 What slows you down most at work that we could fix? Written answer · optional

After they submit: Thank you! Your answers are anonymous. We'll share what we heard, and the updated plan, before anything changes.

Notes for managers

- Nobody answers all 30. A typical person sees about 17 to 20: the two opening questions, one stage page, the shared plan questions, and a follow-up only when they answer "rarely" or negatively.
- Criticism always gets a "why". Negative feelings about the plan, a low share, an annoying timer, or rarely using the Sort tool or camera intake each lead to a short required follow-up, framed as "what would make it better".
- Necessary parts are explained, not put to a vote. Tracking hours is required for a fair bonus, so the survey explains why and asks how to make it painless, rather than whether to do it.
- The intake page asks which methods people use and why, including keyword search versus camera intake, and what's missing at their station. That feeds the station equipment plan (dedicated phones, faster computers).
- The main job question routes people, so it is required, with "Prefer not to say". Results for any group smaller than 5 people are never shown separately, and only Jamie sees the raw answers. Everyone gets the overall results.
